I understand and accept that my role is as the 'first educator' of my child on matters related to teaching human sexuality.
Strongly agree	Agree	Undecided	Disagree	Strongly disagree
I would value further support from school about how to talk to my child about sensitive issues.

The option to teach some elements of the programme is left to the discretion of schools in consultation with parents. These areas are called 'Key Decisions' and in age-appropriate ways, cover the content of genitalia (KS1), puberty (LKS2), sexual intimacy (UKS2), Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) (KS1, LKS2 and UKS2) and the Protected Characteristics concerning sex (UKS2)
I approve of my child learning the names of external genitalia in KS1.

I think Year 4 is a good time to start learning about physical changes during puberty.
Strongly agree	Agree	Undecided	Disagree	Strongly disagree
I am happy for my child to be taught about sexual intimacy in Year 6, in a way that is respectful of Catholic beliefs.

Strongly agree	Agree	Undecided	Disagree	Strongly disagree
I think it's appropriate that in KS1 FGM is not named explicitly, but that children are reminded that private body parts are private and they should stay the same as when a girl was born and are given the additional information that in some cultures people want to harm girls' private parts, and that is not OK.
Strongly agree	Agree	Undecided	Disagree	Strongly disagree
I think that in LKS2 when children are learning about different kinds of abuse, including sexual abuse (referred to as 'abuse of private parts') it's a good time for children to learn some basic facts about FGM.
Strongly agree	Agree	Undecided	Disagree	Strongly disagree
I think that UKS2 is the best time for children watch a film which answers the following questions: • What is FGM? • How does FGM affect health? • Who is at risk? • Why does it happen? • How are people trying to stop it? • Who can I tell?
Strongly agree	Agree	Undecided	Disagree	Strongly disagree
